OUR LOST ASTOR.

In comment upon the action of Willie Astor in becoming a British subject, the New York World says:

"William Waldorf Astor was not an American in any exact sense of the word. Usually when his name came before the public it was in connection with some act of nobility or had taste that made Americans wish foreigners could not refer to him as 'your fellow countryman.'"

"Also it was extremely distasteful to him to think of himself as an American. It reminded him of the ancestral butchers and peddlers. And when he talked to Americans of his pet delusion—his unfounded and now publicly exploded notion that he was descended not from German peasants, but from haughty French and Spanish nobles—he knew that they were laughing in their sleeves at him."

"America retains all of him that was of any value—his property. That remains here to enrich this country. Only its income goes abroad, and it has been going abroad for years anyhow."

"But it is difficult to understand why so shrewd and so snobbish a man should have made such a stupid blunder. As an American citizen he was a sovereign, meeting on terms of perfect equality whatever person he could induce by lavish entertainment to associate with him. As an Englishman he is a subject, one of the lower classes, a nobody, because in England rank goes by birth and a rich person of the lower classes may be tolerated but always looked down upon. His social position will undergo a subtle change that will cause him many painful humiliations. His greatest card in England was his American citizenship, and he has thrown it away."

"It is rarely that an American man of any prominence has been foolish enough to do this. He may not like to live in this country; he may talk and think superciliously about it. But unless there is some reason, as impelled Benedict Arnold or some such reason as drove to English citizenship a few Confederate leaders—Judith P. Benjamin for instance—the American is too shrewd to exchange the rights of a king for the snubs and slights that are the portion of an entitled and ancestorless subject."

GENERAL WOOD has chased yellow Jack out of Santiago, but he has got a foothold in the Soldier's Home, at Hampton, Va.

Here's a chance for the Teguany tiger. The owner of a Spanish bull offers to back him for any amount against any animal.

THE old movement, which failed when Gen. Grant was president to make San Domingo American property, shows signs of reviving.

With all due respect to Governor Chandler, of Georgia, the southern negro has no monopoly of trouble caused by fools and politicians.

THE Cubans who expected to hold office under the new deal, appear to be the only ones who are clamoring for the withdrawal of American authority.

SENATOR HANNA, like Andrew Carnegie, intends selling out his large business interests. But there the likeness ends. Mr. Hanna intends devoting all his time to politics, not to philanthropy.

ADMIRAL DREWY's recent experience indicates that it is dangerous for a prominent man to express an opinion, even in the presence of a doctor, without its getting into the newspapers.

THE Assistant Secretary is, as usual during this vacation sea on, now having his innings in Washington. Sometimes the big heads acquired during this season never get back to their normal size.

WITH all of his experience in having to look pleasant when he felt the other way, Colonel Henry Watterson, of the Courier-Journal, has not been up against anything worse than his present task in that line.

JOHN J. INGALLS refuses to be a corpse. He has arisen from his coffin and his friends say that Kansas will send him to congress. What's the matter with Tom Watson and Dave H. Hill? Can't they be resuscitated?

TWENTY THOUSAND cowboys from the west could end the war in the Philippines in short order. The cowboys might not have much red tape and would not need General Otis to sell them how to advance. The only order the cowboys would need would be an order to find the Filipinos.

THE Omaha Bee works the deadly parallel on General Otis in the following fashion: "Though off confined to Island of Luzon; southern islands quiet and people satisfied with American rule. Rebels in Island of Cebu attacked by infantry, aided by cruiser Charleston, and driven from entrenchments. Gen. Otis might censor his own official dispatches and make an effort to reduce them to harmony."

Moki Tea positively cures sick head ache, indigestion and constipation. A delightful herb drink. Removes all eruptions of the skin, producing a perfect complexion, or money refunded, 25 cts. and 50 cts. For sale at Bisbee Drug Store.

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of.

There is but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhalant mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. P. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhalant remedies."

"Finally it was brought to my notice that Catarrh was a blood disease, and after thinking over the matter, I saw it was unreasonable to expect to be cured by remedies which only reached the surface. I decided to try S. S. S., and after a few bottles were used, I noticed a perceptible improvement. Continuing the remedy, the disease was forced out of my system, and a complete cure was effected. I advise all who have this dreadful disease to abandon their local treatment, which has never done them any good, and take S. S. S., a remedy that can reach the disease and cure it."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood remedy, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most aggravated cases.

S. S. S. For The Blood is Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no dangerous minerals.
